Ohio State Fair Now Underway

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.—Boasting one of the nation's finest displays of livestock and farm produce, the 81st Ohio State fair opened here today.

To the blare of bands the fair officially opened with a flag-raising ceremony held at the race track.

A short time later State Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthery, head of the fair, formally opened the sheep show, a nationally known exposition in itself which annually attracts entries from all parts of the United States.

Prepared for one of the biggest crowds in Ohio State fair history, officials predicted that a total of 200,000 will attend before the state's annual "big show" ends Saturday.

A big crowd was already on hand when the gates swung open at 6:30 a. m. Many exhibitors had worked late Sunday night applying the finishing touches to their displays.

Although opening day was expected to be cloudy, the weatherman promised generally ideal temperature, seldom above 70 degrees.

To the usual feature of the "midway" and the exhibit halls this year has been added a circus. The Hagenback-Wallace circus was stationed on the grounds, and its circus band was there to compete with the all-Ohio high school band and the 166th Infantry band.

Many of the victims probably lost their lives, it was said, because the citizens of Taichow, north of Yangchow, refused to permit the police to turn the flood waters into an emergency canal.

News of the disaster at Yangchow reached this city just as it was beginning to receive better reports from Hankow, where President Chiang Kai Shek has charge of the situation. Official reports of troops placed the number of dead from floods and disease in the Wuhan district at 250,000.

In part the brief of 21 pages asked the court to grant an injunction to keep the Standard Oil from obtaining the station and also to cancel all leases and award damages.

"The Standard Oil Co. like a huge 'octopus' reached out its long tentacles, and grasped and squeezed Crites as one of its victims, and showed its 'yellow' when it filed a forcible detention suit in the justice of peace court," the brief partly averred.

Arguments by attorneys for the plaintiff and defendant are expected to be made before Judge J. W. Adkins sometime in September.

Members of the sheriff's office were kept busy over the week-end investigating several robberies which occurred between midnight Saturday and late Sunday.

Robbers entered the Ford garage, owned and operated by A. J. Harley at Ashville about 2 a. m. Sunday and loaded the one-half ton safe, in a truck and drove away. The safe contained $51.63 in money and checks, a contract for the rental of the building, bank books, a deposit pad, cancelled checks and other valuable papers. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear window. Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell and Bob Armstrong investigated Sunday morning and obtained a number of finger prints. According to Fissell the robbery looked "professional."

None of the residents near the garage could furnish any information, as all of them stated they had not heard any noises or excitement at the time the theft is supposed to have been committed.

Shortly after this robbery had been investigated the sheriff's office received a call from Mrs. Almeda Bennett, near Atlanta, that someone entered Kozy Korner, a filling station and restaurant operated by her outside of Atlanta, and escaped with a glass jar of candy, a boiled ham, a box of cigars, one bill, six pints of ice cream, a box of brown giants, a number of musk melons, four boxes of chewing gum and some insurance papers.

CITY COUNCIL CALCAR CORP., MEN TO MEET

To Study Project Early This Week; Plant Has State Approval

ENGINEER DISCUSSES
System Called Out-of-Date in Newspaper

City council and officials of the Calcar Products Corporation, owners of the sewage disposal plant here are to meet early this week to study the project, according to an announcement Monday. The plant has received the approval of the state board of health after an extensive study although a Columbus paper Saturday evening assailed the system employed here. The story carried in the Columbus paper followed an interview between a reporter and F. H. Waring, chief state engineer, in which Waring branded the local plant as "out-of-date."

Following is the story concerning the local plant:

"Several limitations are contained in the State Health Department's approval of the Calcar process of treatment of sewage at Circleville."

The process is owned by the Calcar Products Corp., controlled by Circleville men and capital. J. T. Travers, veteran sewage disposal expert, is associated with the corporation.

F. H. Waring, chief engineer for the State Health Department, said the process would not work out in a city the size of Columbus because of its costly operation.

It involves the use of chemical precipitants, a practice known for more than 50 years, said Waring. "The novel feature of the precipitant now used at Circleville is the employment of muri to assist the lime and sulphate of iron," wrote Waring.

EXCESSIVE COST
"Chemical precipitation is a process of sewage treatment practically has been abandoned in recent years because of the excessive cost of the chemical treatment and the increased difficulty of handling the excessive amounts of deposited sludge."

Waring said that during dry weather enough clean river water is in the Scioto river to suffice for plain sedimentation (using no precipitants or coagulants) in treating municipal sewage at Circleville.

"The attention of the Calcar officials is called to the need for more

Ohio's new cigarette tax law goes into effect Monday at midnight and Circleville and Pickaway-county smokers thereafter, will pay two cents tax on each package of 20 cigarettes they purchase.

The new tax law is operative until 1934. Its advocates contend it will yield between $4,000,000 and $7,000,000 a year revenue.

Harry V. Phelps, 150 West-st, is one of the 48 tax inspectors appointed by the state tax commission to see that the law is enforced in this district which includes Pickaway, Ross, Greene, Fayette, Madison, Fairfield, Hocking and Perry-counties.

Any retailer who is discovered selling the smokes without the required stamp is liable to a fine of $25 to $100.

The tax stamps may be purchased by licensed dealers in Pickaway-county from the county treasurer's office.

Convicts Dig in Yard for Others

BULLETIN

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Harry D. Powers, matrimonial agency blackboard today was declared legally sane by Dr. Edwin H. Mayers of Pittsburgh, psychiatrist of the University of Pittsburgh.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Although Harry D. Powers, the cow-faced wholesale butcher of two widows and three children insisted he had not killed any more men, order wives authorities began dragging the creek beside his slaughterhouse garage today.

A chain gang of convicts also continued digging into the garage yard trench beside the place where Powers confessed he had killed his five victims and strangled them one after another.

"They can dig if they want to, but that's all there was of Powers," said Powers, who had his wife and sister-in-law six miles from his carefully constructed slaughterhouse.

Authorities frankly doubt the blantly told story of "Shamless house Harry" that he had pushed his victims into the slaughterhouse chamber beneath the place where he built his slaughterhouse, and built his rooms below the ground level, and it was there he changed his identity from Harry D. Powers to Harry D. Powers.

Mrs. Asia Sicker, of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy Lemple, of Northboro, and Worcester, Mass., were the two victims to whom he wrote of love which spelled death, and after he had murdered their mother, the mail-order merchant strangled the three pretty children of Mrs. Sicker.

Among effects is a married story on the black hole of Calcutta.

So he built himself a concrete garage with out any house in a lonely spot, and this is what he did with it, according to his detailed confession to City Detective Carl Southern, state police Captain Dorsey Bailey and Police Chief C. A. Duckworth.

"I put 14 years-old Grete Eicher in one room in the garage cellar," said Powers. "Then I put Harry Eicher, 12, and Annabel Eicher, 9, into another room. I put Mrs. Eicher and Mrs. Lemple each in a room."

Mrs. Bennet Reports Kozy Korner is Entered

Members of the sheriff's office were kept busy over the week-end investigating several robberies which occurred between midnight Saturday and late Sunday.

Robbers entered the Ford garage, owned and operated by A. J. Harley at Ashville about 2 a. m. Sunday and loaded the one-half ton safe, in a truck and drove away. The safe contained $51.65 in money and checks, a contract for the rental of the building, bank books, a deposit pad, cancelled checks and other valuable papers.

Entrance was gained by forcing a rear window. Deputy Sheriffs Miller Fissell and Bob Armstrong investigated Sunday morning and obtained a number of finger prints. According to Fissell the robbery looked "professional."

None of the residents near the garage could furnish any information, as all of them stated they had not heard any noises or excitement at the time the theft is supposed to have been committed.

Shortly after this robbery had been investigated the sheriff's office received a call from Mrs. Almeda Bennett, near Atlanta, that someone entered Kozy Korner, a filling station and restaurant operated by her outside of Atlanta, and escaped with a glass jar of candy, a boiled ham, a box of cigars, one bill file, six pints of ice cream, a box of brown giants, a number of musk melons, four boxes of chewing gum and some insurance papers.

The robbery was supposed to have been committed about 3 a. m. Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell investigated the robbery but was unable to discover any clues.

CITY COUNCIL CALCAR CORP., MEN TO MEET

This Week; Plant Has State Approval

ENGINEER DISCUSSES System Called Out-of-Date in Newspaper

City council and officials of the Calcar Products Corporation, owners of the sewage disposal plant here are to meet early this week to study the project, according to an announcement Monday. The plant has received the approval of the state board of health after an extensive study although a Columbus paper Saturday evening assailed the system employed here. The story carried in the Columbus paper followed an interview between a reporter and F. H. Waring, chief state engineer, in which Waring branded the local plant as "out-of-date."

Following is the story concerning the local plant:

"Several limitations are contained in the State Health Department's approval of the Calcar process of treatment of sewage at Circleville.

The process is owned by the Calcar Products Corp., controlled by Circleville men and capital. J. T. Travers, veteran sewage disposal expert, is associated with the corporation.

"F. H. Waring, chief engineer for the State Health Department, said the process would not work out in a city the size of Columbus because of its costly operation.

"It involves the use of chemical precipitants, a practice known for more than 50 years, said Waring.

"The novel feature of the precipitant now used at Circleville is the employment of marl to assist the lime and sulphate of iron," wrote Waring.

"Chemical precipitation as a process of sewage treatment practically has been abandoned in recent years because of the excessive cost of the chemical treatment and the increased difficulty of handling the excessive amounts of deposited sludge."

"Warning said that during dry weather enough clean river water is in the Scioto river to suffice for plain sedimentation (using no precipitants or coagulants) in treating municipal sewage at Circleville.

SPEED FLYERS SET FOR TEST

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 31.—Jimmy Doolittle, noted army flier, and seven other well-known pilots, today were making last minute preparations for their take-off tomorrow morning in the Los Angeles-Cleveland speed-free-for-all feature of the National Air Races.

The fliers, piloting racing planes all capable of high speeds, will hop off at 2 a. m., and expected to be in Cleveland early tomorrow afternoon.

Doolittle, whose plane is said to be capable of 260 miles per hour, will attempt to break the record or the flight from Los Angeles to New York, now held by Capt. Frank M. Hawks.

The army ace hopes to make the trip in 11 and a half hours, 55 minutes less than Hawk's record.

Doolittle declared that he intended to stop at Albuquerque, N. M., Wichita, Kan., and Indianapolis or gasoline, making no stop at Cleveland but merely swooping to touch his landing wheels to the field and then continuing to New York.

Others scheduled to take off in the Cleveland race are James Hall, New York; Beeler Blevins, Atlanta, Ga.; Lou Reichers, Arlington, N. J.; Harold Johnson, Chicago; Col. Arthur Goebel, Col. Roscoe Turner, and Walter J. Hunter, of Los Angeles.

ENFORCE TAX LAW TUESDAY

Cigarettes to Cost 18 Cents and
Two Packs For 35; Law Explained.

Ohio's new cigarette tax law goes into effect Monday at midnight and Circleville and Pickaway-co smokers thereafter, will pay two cents tax on each package of 20 cigarettes they purchase.

The new tax law is operative until 1934. Its advocates contend it will yield between $4,000,000 and $7,000,000 a year revenue.

Harry V. Phebus, 150 Wall-st, is one of the 48 tax inspectors appointed by the state tax commission to see that the law is enforced in this district which includes Pickaway, Ross, Greene, Fayette, Madison, Fairfield, Hocking and Perry-co's.

Under the new law, jobbers and wholesalers are required to affix the tax stamps to all packages of cigarettes sold to retailers in Ohio.

Retailers buying from foreign wholesalers, however, are required to stamp these purchases, and retailers with cigarettes on hand must stamp these packages.

Any retailer who is discovered selling the smokes without the required stamp is liable to a fine of $25 to $100.

The tax stamps may be purchased by licensed dealers in Pickaway-co from the county treasurer's office.

According to local retailers the price of cigarettes in Circleville beginning Tuesday will be 18 cents each or two packs for 35 cents.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.—Appointment of Robert J. Gregg of Washington C. H., Democrat, as one of the 48 inspectors who will aid the state tax commission in the enforcement of the state cigarette law effective Tuesday was announced today by the commission.

Gregg has been assigned to district No. 8 comprising Green, Madison, Fayette, Pickaway, Ross, Fairfield, Hocking and Perry counties.

The commission has chosen 45 inspectors. Selection of the remaining three will be announced late today or Tuesday. Gregg will work in the same district with Harry Phebus.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Harry D. Powers, matrimonial agency bluebeard, today was declared legally sane by Dr. Edwin H. Mayers of Pittsburgh, psychiatrist of the University of Pittsburgh.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Although Harry D. Powers, the cow-faced wholesale butcher of two widows and three children insisted he had not killed any more mail-order wives authorities began dragging the creek beside his slaughterhouse garage today.

A chain gang of convicts also continued digging into the graveyard trench beside the garage where Powers confessed he cornered his five victims and strangled them one after another.

"They can dig if they want to but that's all there was at that place," said Powers, who lived with his wife and sister-in-law six miles from his carefully constructed murder garage.

DOUBT HIS STORY
Authorities frankly doubt the blandly told story of "Slaughterhouse Harry" that he had barded his victims into the subterranean chamber beneath the garage and killed them all at once. He had built his abattoir with four separate rooms below the ground level and it was there he composed his sugary love letters to women

Screen Comebacks Flock To Hollywood This Year

NEW YORK.—They're calling this "Comeback Year" out in Hollywood.

More screen stars, hitherto listed on the rolls of the down-and-outers, have shaken off their shrouds and reappeared on the lots with good parts, than ever before in the history of the movie town.

Why have they come back? And have they changed much?

Some are back because of financial need, other because idleness proved boring. Clara Kimball Young says she must show off her painfully acquired slenderness. Mae Murray woke up to the fact that temperament doesn't pay dividends. Thomas Meighan, weary of idleness, made a triumphant comeback. Grueling labor with a stock company has transformed the languorously exotic Greta Nissen into a hardworking and sensible technician. The death of her husband kept Doris Kenyon away. William Farnum has finally found a good role.

SHIP GOODS THRU SUBURBAN LINE

The Suburban Motor Freight Line, operated and owned by Fred Braddock of this city which runs a truck line through Circleville, has gained a fast reputation on its type of service. This type of moving freight from one city to the other in such fast time is becoming very popular with a number of local shippers.

The Suburban Line guarantees the goods shipped by them to arrive at its destination in good shape unless some calamity such as fire, accident, etc., occurs. In this day of 'fast things' when everyone wishes to move with the times, there is probably not a more quicker and satisfactory way to ship freight than by the method offered by Mr. Braddock's motor truck line.

EXPLAINS HOG COLERA CURABLE

Dr. C. C. Watts, E. Main-st, is a licensed veterinarian and particularly specializes in the cure of hog cholera. This disease can be controlled by following this simple advice: Each year, about weaning time, call your licensed graduate veterinarian.

A few years ago, protection against hog-cholera could not be purchased at any price. Hog-raising was a venture—an outright gamble—in which the farmer risked his time, his work, his feed stuffs, his investment, and with no certainty of realizing thereby.

How different it is today. For a small sum—a small percentage of the hog's value at market age, the farmer may now purchase assured protection against hog-cholera, the worst enemy of swine. Through the services of his licensed graduate veterinarian he can prevent losses which overwhelmed his father, his grandfather, and all previous generations of hog-raisers.

But, as a famous writer once said—"There are better ways of doing everything even to the boiling of an egg." Since hogs are the best property of the farmer, he is entitled to the best possible protection.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK? by Edison R. White, Shreveport, La.

THAT the soundness of any city depends upon its assets.

A loyal citizenship is the greatest asset any city can have.

It takes cooperation and good management to give a city its rightful place in the sun.

When a city has safe, sane and vigorous cooperation it grows into a bigger, better city.

Faith and efficiency increase development. Your city merits the good-will, hearty cooperation and support of every citizen. It is worthy of every effort.

Pessimism, misunderstanding and distrust are what hold some cities back.

Optimism cannot exist in a mind that is constantly calculating profits on some commercial transaction and never giving a thought to the home city.

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET BUSY AND BOOST YOUR BUSINESS. YOUR NEIGHBOR AND YOUR CITY.

International conferences are always reminiscent of Ring Lardner's big business man who remarked "Boys, this has been a dandy conference—let's have another."

OVERWORKED NERVES

UP TO your ears in work—every nerve at high tension. No wonder you snap at the wife and bark at the children.

Watch out! Overworked nerves may lead to Sleeplessness, Nervous Headaches, Nervous Indigestion and a host of other unpleasant disturbances. Why don't you try Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nerve Tablets? Just one in a half glass of water makes a pleasant, sparkling drink, deliciously soothing to over-taxed nerves.

Dr. Miles' Nerve is now in a new form—Liquid and effervescent Tablets. Both have a soothing effect.

Head at your drug store.

Screen Comebacks Flock To Hollywood This Year

NEW YORK—They're calling this "Comeback Year" out in Hollywood.

More screen stars, hitherto listed on the rolls of the down-and-outers, have shaken off their shrouds and reappeared on the lots with good parts, than ever before in the history of the movie town.

Why have they come back? And have they changed much?

Some are back because of financial need, other because of idleness, made a triumphant comeback. Grueling labor with a stock company has transformed the languorously exotic Greta Nissen into a hardworking and sensible technician. The death of her husband kept Doris Kenyon away. William Farnum has finally found a good role.

OLD YEARNING

Virginia Brown Faire is working with Ken Maynard, Mae Busch has been in a Hal Roach comedy, Ruth Renick is in a RKO short, the brilliant Mary Alden is seen in "Dude Ranch," and Kathlyn Williams returned in "Daddy Long Legs." Helen Jerome Eddy, Robert Warwick, John Stepping, and other pioneers have been in a few pictures this season. Enid Bennett played in "Skippy." Others who had been out only a year or so scored welcome receptions.

But 'they' said Lois Wilson was through, and Mae Murray, and Clara Kimball Young, Doris Kenyon, Lew Cody, and other old-timers who have crashed the talkie citadels to new victories.

SHIP GOODS THRU SUBURBAN LINE

The Suburban Motor Freight Line, operated and owned by Fred Braddock of this city which runs a truck line through Circleville, has gained a fast reputation on its type of service. This type of moving freight from one city to the other in such fast time is becoming very popular with a number of local shippers.

This line runs through this city from other points and is ready to stop at anytime to take on freight which may be going north or south.

Any local shipper who might be interested in shipping a large amount of freight consistently should get in touch with Mr. Braddock who may be easily reached by telephoning 231.

The Suburban Line guarantees the goods shipped by them to arrive at its destination in good shape unless some calamity such as fire, accident, etc., occurs.

In this day of 'fast things' when everyone wishes to move with the times, there is probably not a more quicker and satisfactory way to ship freight than by the method offered by Mr. Braddock's motor truck line.

EXPLAINS HOG COLERA CURABLE

Dr. C. C. Watts, E. Main-st, is a licensed veterinarian and particularly specializes in the cure of hog cholera. This disease can be controlled by following this simple advice: Each year, about weaning time, call your licensed graduate veterinarian.

A few years ago, protection against hog-cholera could not be purchased at any price. Hog-raising was a venture—an outright gamble—in which the farmer risked his time, his work, his feed stuffs, his investment, and with no certainty of realizing thereby.

How different it is today. For a small sum—a small percentage of the hog's value at market age, the farmer may now purchase assured protection against hog-cholera, the worst enemy of swine. Through the services of his licensed graduate veterinarian he can prevent losses which overwhelmed his father, his grandfather, and all previous generations of hog-raisers.

But, as a famous writer once said—"There are better ways of doing everything even to the boiling of an egg." Since hogs are the best property of the farmer, he is entitled to the best possible protection.

HardKnocksMakeFunny ComediansSurveyShows

NEW YORK.—Want to be a comedian? Then have trouble—lots of it.

There's something about trouble, privations and woe that turns out funny men—and if you doubt it, look at this list of graduates of the School of Hard Knocks: Charlie Chaplin, Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, Will Rogers, Harold Lloyd, Harry Langdon, El Brendel, and many others.

These laugh manufacturers are cited in support of the theory that it takes hard knocks to make a comedy headliner. About the theory:

"There's one thing that can be said of virtually every portrayer of light-hearted roles whether he be out-and-out comedian or blunder of romance and humor—at some period in his life, Old Man Trouble, as big and black as a thunder-cloud, has overwhelmed him.

"The number of comedians who were reared in comfortable or orderly circumstances is appallingly small. Young fellows with all that money can buy have attempted to be film comedians. Several have even formed their own companies to that end, but their ef-

Popular Actresses Are Not Liked By Hollywood

NEW YORK.—The Hollywood rule is—if you want to be a movie success—make "inside" Hollywood hate you.

If directors, executives, and interviewers haven't much use for you, the public will take you to its heart. Why? Nobody knows. But it's true. Here's how:

"The fantastic thing is that the rule works out in a number of instances. To be popular with the insiders, is something that may giddily gratify personal vanity, but it doesn't make for a career. Greatest favorites around the studio lots are by no means the studio winners. Each lot has its special pet. What establishes a star as such is never difficult to analyze. Character and geniality are the leading items. Earnestness and sincerity generally help. To be liked by the electricians and prop boys is a distinction that, strangely enough, many luminaries covet—but does it ever get them anywhere?

NAMES 3 WHEAT VARIETIES FOR OHIO

This year will be a poor one to experiment with untried sorts of wheat varieties, says H. L. Borst, professor of farm crops at the Ohio State University. Professor Borst recommends for Ohio three standard, proved varieties—Trumbull, Fulhio, and Nabob.

The Trumbull variety is, according to his description, a smooth wheat, an excellent miller, has good straw, and is practically immune to loose smut.

The Fulhio variety is similar to the Trumbull, and is slightly more winter hardy. It produces slightly higher yields but it is not immune to loose smut.

The Nabob variety is a new wheat in Ohio. It is high yielding, a good milling variety, is bearded and perhaps no more winter hardy than Trumbull or Fulhio. The Nabob is finding favor in localities where Nigger or other bearded varieties are sown.

These varieties, Borst says, are not all that should be desired because in extreme seasons they will winter kill, but at the present time they are the best available.

So far, winter hardy varieties introduced from other states have proved inferior in yielding or in milling qualities or in both, and for these reasons crops specialists do not recommend them.

Plant breeders at the Ohio Experiment Station now are working to develop high yielding, good milling, winter resisting wheat varieties.

GARBO AND DIETRICH
"Stars have a lot of people to satisfy in the inside group. They are under constant close scrutiny. If they win out with the film magazines, the chances are some one will accuse them of toadying. Directors and fellow players may give them the blackmark, and when the director does so, it may lead to a certain lethargy in the star's pictures.

"Again, a star who is intent only on work, and tries to shut out everything else, quickly loses the interest of those who ballyhoo his career. This may not mean anything when a player is riding high, but it is fine to have such favor in a slump."

Greta Garbo and Marlene Dietrich are among those who are not so popular with the inner circle but have a tremendous following with the public. Among those who rate high with Hollywood are Clara Bow, Aileen Pringle, Marion Davies, Marjorie White, and Eleanor Boardman.

COP'S CAPS IRKED WIVES
DENVER.—The new eight-point cap recently adopted by the Denver police force may be a pretty nifty article, but some of the cop's wives didn't think so. As a result the design of the sky pieces is to be changed radically. The objection, it seems, is that the caps are too squatty and give the impression of lying down on the job. One policeman said his wife asked him if a building had fallen on him.

URGES MILK FOR POULTRY RATION

Milk, at present prices a relatively cheap food, deserves a place in the poultry ration, declares P. B. Zumbro, extension specialist in poultry husbandry for the Ohio State University.

If liquid milk is available on the farm, this form is the cheapest to use. For every gallon of liquid milk fed daily to each one hundred hens, the protein concentrate in the mash may be reduced 5 per cent, he says.

If liquid milk is not available, dried milk may be used in the mash, Zumbro suggests.

When liquid milk is not available for the poultry ration, the following grain-mash ration is recommended by the poultry specialist.

For the mash: ground yellow corn, 40 pounds; ground wheat, 20 pounds; ground oats, 20 pounds; dried milk, 5 pounds; meat scraps, 15 pounds; salt, 1 pound. For the grain: cracked corn, 50 pounds; wheat, 40 pounds; and oats or barley, 10 pounds.

A moist mash fed in the summer will stimulate the poultry appetite and result in increased production, says Zumbro. The regular laying mash may be used in making the moist mash. For each 100 hens, 2 pounds of the mash moistened with milk or buttermilk until it is a crumbly condition, is sufficient for a daily feeding. It is not necessary to have special feeders for this special moist mash, it may be fed on top of the dry mash in the dry mash hoppers.

Aboard Airliner Eastern Air Transport

Dear Peggy

I'm almost too excited to write, and there's so much to see, both inside the plane and out. We've left Washington behind now, and I've just had a Chesterfield in the smoking compartment—they serve them on every ship.

Among the eighteen passengers there's a senator and a foreign diplomat, and I'm surprised at the number of women. The trip is two hundred miles and the meter in the cabin reads two miles a minute, think of that.

For me, the Chesterfields were the meet touch of all. I was just dying for a smoke, and when the hostess passed them (and my favorite cigarette at that) everyone else seemed as tickled as I was. And my—they did taste good!

Chesterfields are served in the smoking compartments of all these planes—the largest and most luxurious in the East. With the fast growth of air travel, Chesterfield makes many new friends each day, here as in city streets and country homes—wherever good taste counts.

A mild cigarette—delightfully mild and smooth—with a tobacco fragrance all its own.

Whether you're air-minded or not, you'll always find Chesterfield on the air-line to taste—the quickest way to get there. They Satisfy!

HardKnocksMakeFunny ComediansSurveyShows

NEW YORK.—Want to be a great comedian? Then have trouble—lots of it.

There's something about trouble, privations and woe that turns out funny men—and if you doubt it, look at this list of graduates of the School of Hard Knocks: Charlie Chaplin, Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, Will Rogers, Harold Lloyd, Harry Langdon, El Brendel, and O. P. O'Keefe.

These laugh manufacturers are cited in support of the theory that it takes hard knocks to make a comedy headliner. About the theory:

"There's one thing that can be said of virtually every portrayer of light-hearted roles whether he be out-and-out comedian or blunder of romance and humor—at some period in his life, Old Man Trouble, as big and black as a thundercloud, has overwhelmed him.

"The number of comedians who were reared in comfortable or orderly circumstances is appallingly small. Young fellows with all that money can buy have attempted to be film comedians. Several have even formed their own companies to that end, but their efforts have met with dismal failure.

POOR BOY GETS CHANCE

"Why is it? Partly because the boy's plumbing of life's depths gives him something that the more comfortably reared lad cannot know—the laugh-clown-laugh urge that one hears so much about. But there's another, even stronger reason that few realize. It is that the poor boy, thrown on his own, gets vastly greater opportunities to express and develop his comedy talents than others.

"With little parental restraint, he is apt to do comical tricks behind teacher's back, to throw snowballs at high hats, to laugh and bawl and mimic with sublime indifference to the repressions of the book of etiquette. He's unconsciously learning the rudiments of low comedy—which is brother under the skin of the more sophisticated brand of humor.

"Meanwhile the little boy with the advantages is taught to be a gentleman and repress the natural roodumisms of youth, as well as the free display of his emotions, and when he turns comedian, he faces the fearful problem of unlearning his manners."

Popular Actresses Are Not Liked By Hollywood

NEW YORK.—The Hollywood rule is—if you want to be a movie success—make "inside" Hollywood hate you.

If directors, executives and interviewers haven't much use for you, the public will take you to its heart. Why? Nobody knows. But it's true. Here's how:

"The fantastic thing is that the rule works out in a number of instances. To be popular with the insiders, is something that may giddily gratify personal vanity, but it doesn't make for a career.

Greatest favorites around the studio lots are by no means the studio winners. Each lot has its special pet. What establishes a star as such is never difficult to analyze. Character and geniality are the leading items. Earnestness and sincerity generally help. To be liked by the electricians and prop boys is a distinction that, strangely enough, many luminaries covet—but does it ever get them anywhere?

TAX FOR JOBLESS URGED

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Leading business men of New Haven see a serious condition prevailing here during the coming winter because of lack of work. So a group has asked the board of aldermen to collect a special tax to be used in aiding people out of work. The group opposes letting future generations pay for the idle of today and urge the aldermen not to issue bonds but to levy a tax.

FRANCE'S UNEMPLOYED

PARIS.—According to the latest statistics there are only 35,836 unemployed in France. The figures issued by the Minister of Labor give the number as 27,134 men and 8,702 women. AN OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTORS!

Investments today are in a strange condition. Stocks and bonds have rapidly decreased in value, real estate—both city and country—has decreased in price, wages are low, prices of commodities have had a continuous decline for almost two years. Everybody is worried.

During this two-year period stocks and bonds, in general, have the same security back of them as before; real estate—in city and country—has not vanished; we can buy more for our dollar than ever before—

Why Should We Be Worried About INVESTMENTS?

FEAR—the Demon which causes stampedes in theatres and on shipboard; which brings on unreasoning fright; starts runs on banks, makes us suspicious of everything; brings on financial depressions—has us in its grip. BUT—

“INVESTMENTS MUST BE MADE”

None of us can afford to let our money lie in safety deposit boxes or under the mattress FOR LONG.

The World Today Needs FAITH to Believe that VALUES Have NOT Vanished.

All that investors today need to do is to use good OLD FASHIONED COMMON SENSE—and FAITH—and their future will be assured and they will not be one of the crowd who will later lament the fact “if I could only have known that the panic was over and could have bought when big values could be secured at a low price.”

The MIDWEST FARM EQUIPMENT CO. of CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, has faith in the future.

The necessity for our products compels us to expand our business. Competition among the Farmers of the World in the next generation will COMPEL THEM TO BE EFFICIENT or lose out in their battle for existence.

FOOD—

Must be and will be produced. Cultivation is necessary in the production of food. Cultivating tools must be bought and they will wear out.

Authorities agree that we have the best tillage tools on the market. THE FUTURE OF OUR COMPANY AS IT NOW STANDS SEEMS ASSURED. The future of your investments is NOT ASSURED unless your investments are safe.

We believe that your capital combined with our capital, invested in the stock of the MIDWEST FARM EQUIPMENT CO., will be safe and the aggregate of our resources will make it possible to take care of our possible market which will bring bigger scale production, economy in manufacturing, and greater profits for all concerned.

CIRCLEVILLE CLAIMS IT WANTS INDUSTRIES, AND MUST HAVE THEM if its future is to be assured.

The quotation says, “FAITH WITHOUT WORKS IS DEAD.” Our capital has been used to develop a manufacturing business and we know of no reason why our future is not assured. We are passed the experimental stage during which time we have developed tools which Agricultural experts and leading farmers of five states say are worthy of the name

BETTER TILLAGE TOOLS

WE have had our manufacturing methods checked by engineers to ascertain whether we are using efficient and economical systems. We have had the best cost accountants available check our cost system and cost sheets to prove that our cost figures are correct.

We have developed a sales organization which reaches into six states, and produces results.

Our market demand is much greater than our present manufacturing capacity can take care of so we believe that you will be justified in making an investment with us. Help us to increase our manufacturing facilities and develop market possibilities and profit with us through this increased business.

YOUR $10.00, $50.00, $100 or $500 invested “NOW” can assist in bringing thousands of dollars into Circleville from the four corners of the earth through the sale of our products.

WE HAVE FURNISHED THE OPPORTUNITY—YOU NEED A PLACE FOR INVESTMENT.

Oil and Bayonets

HIGH-HANDED and extra-legal though their efforts have been, Governor Murry, of Oklahoma, and Governor Sterling, of Texas, have met with a measure of success in their joint fight to bring back prosperity in their respective states by forcing up crude oil prices. They have demonstrated that temporary price-levitation is possible, but the real test will come when they tackle the job of keeping prices up after they have them where they want them.

Shutting down all oil wells by martial law is comparatively simple compared with keeping the flow from those wells at just the proper level to maintain dollar-a-barrel or better crude oil.

Both executives are, no doubt, playing hands popular in their own states, but since they contain the threat of higher gasoline prices for the country any move to thwart them will be more or less popular beyond Oklahoma-Texas borders.

Success for the crude oil experiment is almost certain to inspire similar moves for the elevation of depressed farm prices. Farms, plantations and ranches may be the next to be shut down by martial law, although stopping the oil wells was a comparatively simpler matter.

Amanullah Is Wiser

AS a private citizen living in Switzerland the deposed King Amanullah, of Afghanistan, is learning from bitter experience a few things which, had he known them while on the throne, would have made him a more benevolent and, perhaps more enduring monarch.

Amanullah is unique among the living crop of royal exiles. Whereas most of them were kicked off their thrones because they resisted progress, he is on the outside looking in because he tried to introduce modern improvements before his subjects were ready for them. His sin lay in being progressive.

There has just occurred to him an experience that is well calculated to demonstrate how it feels to be a private citizen—one of the masses. Arriving home late at night and without his key, he attempted to enter through a window only to be nabbed by a policeman and caused to explain his suspicious actions.

Great are the handicaps of an ex-king in a democratic country. The window escapade could not happen to the average citizen of a democratic country because he makes friends with the policeman on the home beat. That is the difference between a monarchy and a democracy—that which could not happen to a king in his kingdom could not happen to the citizen of a democracy in his kingdom.

Clue to Amundsen's Fate

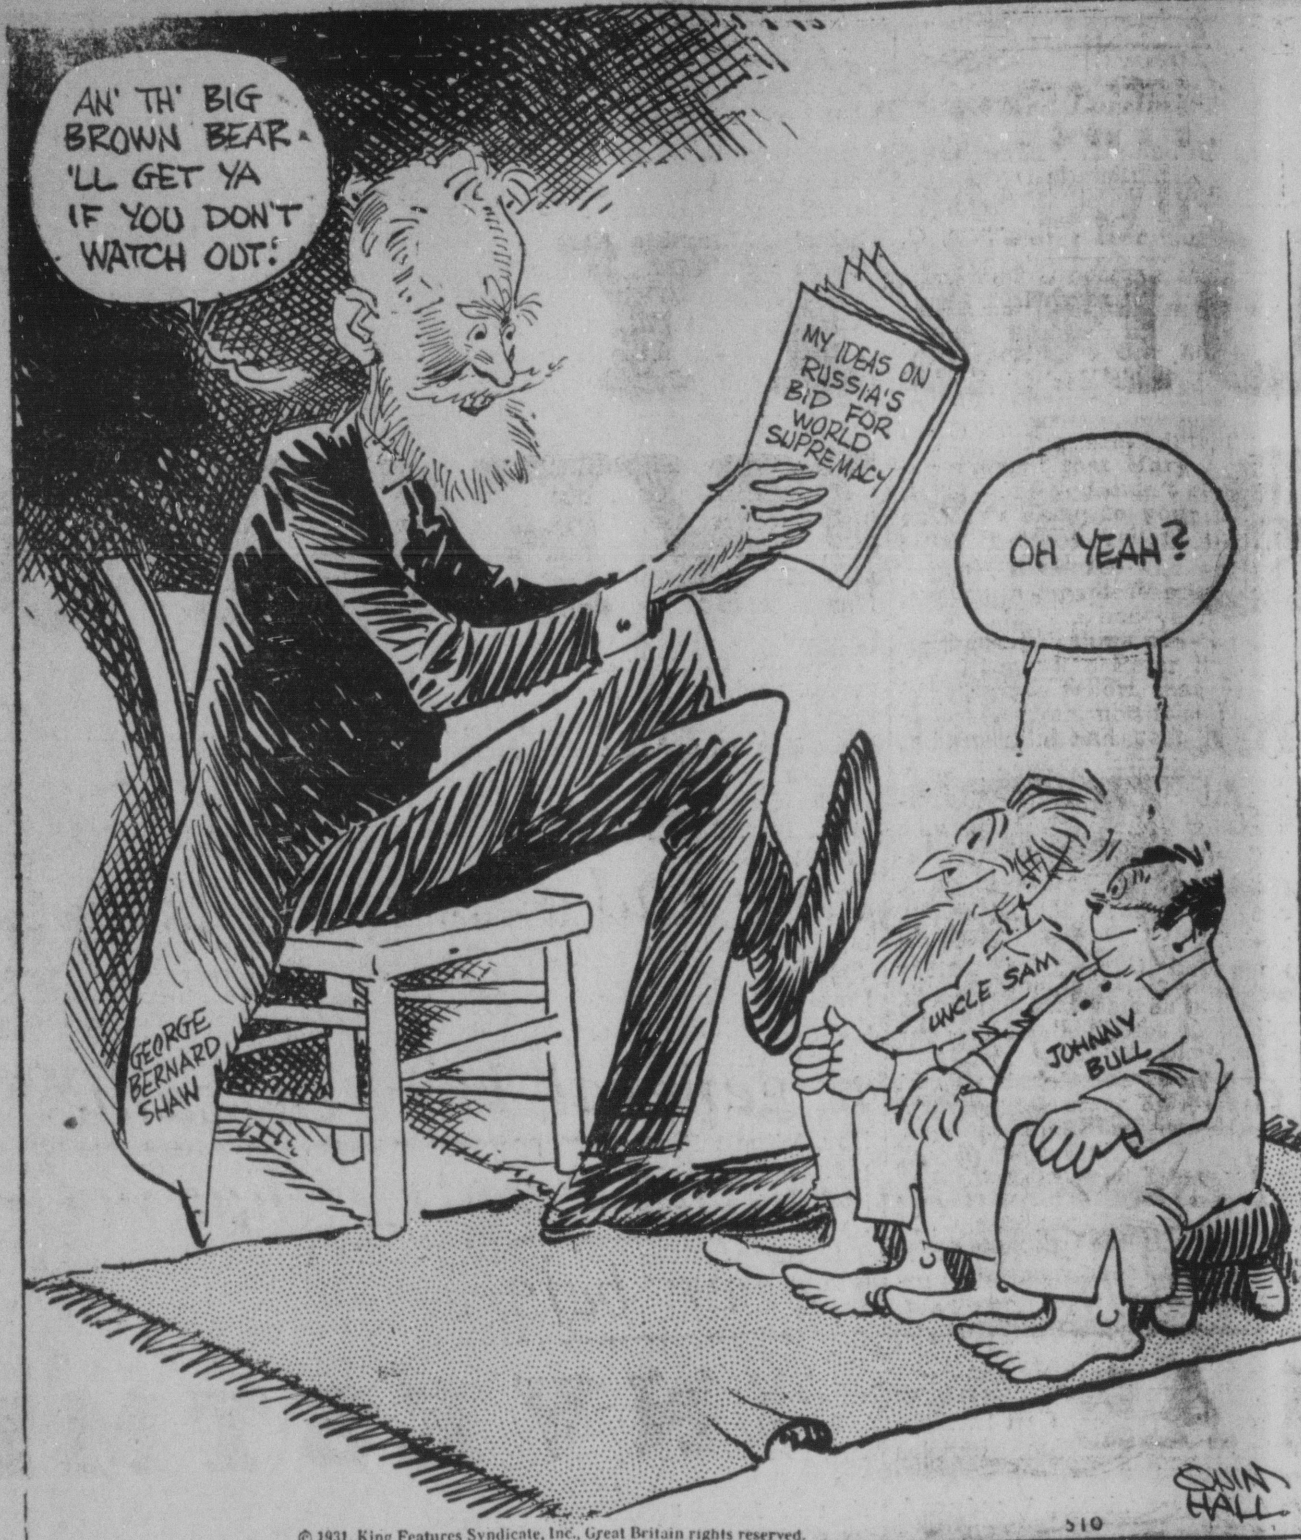

ENLARGEMENT of a photograph taken during the flight has added another discovery to the many scored by the Graf Zeppelin on its recent Arctic flight. One of the airship's cameras caught a tiny sharp-edged blotch on Nova Zembla, which upon enlargement of the plate proved to be the wing of a seaplane. The human eye had missed it entirely.

The location of the find convinces many that the wing is from the plane of Roald Amundsen, the noted Arctic explorer, who was lost while seeking survivors of the Italia in 1928. But Ludwig Weickman, German professor, is of the opinion that Nova Zembla wing may be from one of the several American planes lost in the frozen North.

Before the study of the Graf Zeppelin's picture has been concluded they may have solved another mystery of the land of perpetual ice. At least they have demonstrated again that the camera's eye is sharper than the human eye, and that the ship of the air has a valuable ally in the aero camera. Their conjunctive value was best proved during the World war.

FIGHT OVER FLAT TIRE

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—A quarrel over a flat tire landed two men in jail here, one of them with a bruised head. According to police, Lewis Rich, 24, and James V. Bass, 26, were driving with their wives. The greatest dread of motorists occurred—flat tire. Both men got out. Neither would admit the tire was free for all.

CHAPTER LI.

MARGARET came up, a little out of breath. Peter was with her and one of the gardeners. She had bandage and bandage scissors in her hand, utterly ignorant as to the identity of the stranger or the extent of her accident as she was.

"Travers," she began, and then, quickly, stricken, "You!"

Delight said, smiling a little, not a pleasant smile: "You know me, too?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Lorrimer shortly. "Come, Travers—Peter—between all of you, we can get her to the house."

"But mother," began Lorrimer, wildly, frantically.

Mrs. Lorrimer looked at him a moment. Pity for him, terror, anger, all fought in her eyes for mastery. She said, slowly:

"She's in no condition to be kept standing here." She indicated Peter and the other man with a gesture of her hand. "We'll all be better off at the house," said Margaret Lorrimer.

Supported by Peter and the gardener—as Lorrimer made no move to touch her—Delight was taken to the house. Lorrimer and his mother walked beside her, a strange little procession. No word was spoken.

In the library she was put into a big chair. Peter was sent to telephone Doctor Mathews. Someone else was sent for a stimulant. Then they faced each other, alone, the three of them.

"How did this happen?" asked Mrs. Lorrimer, quietly.

"She came to me," Delight said, wearily, regarding the injured ankle which was stretched out on a footstool. "She came yesterday morning and told me—"

"Who did?" asked Lorrimer sharply.

In Loyalty's Name.

"That girl, Miss Thurston. She told me she that she knew who I was, really. I'd been fool enough to tell that young press agent, Mitchell, my name. She told me that you knew Mrs. Lorrimer, and that apparently you were not going to tell your son. She wasn't sure what you would do. She felt that—that her loyalty lay with Lorry, and, strangely enough, with me; that it was only fair both of us should know the truth. And she asked me to give her a week in which to bring you to her point of view. After that, if you were still set on Lorry's not knowing, she would leave it up to me."

She sighed. There was a silence. She went on:

"I promised. But on an impulse I came here, found out where you lived and all. Easy enough. I overheard Lorry and—the other girl talking. I made up my mind to go away and, no matter what you decided, Mrs. Lorrimer, to stay away. I started for the gate, turned my ankle and fell."

She looked at them both, a little defiantly.

"We're all in it now," she said; "no use trying to escape. What are you going to do?"

Peter entered the room to say that Doctor Mathews would be right over.

"Go to Miss—" Mrs. Lorrimer hesitated and said, firmly, "Miss Thurston's room and ask her to please come to the library."

Peter took the message without a quiver of the eyelid and left the room.

Lorrimer said blankly: "Where—Delight—we've searched for you, all over. There was no trace." He looked at her. This was the girl he had loved and lost. She had returned to him. That other girl had been an impostor. Yet he had loved her, thinking her Delight. But this was Delight.

Truth at Last.

Delight Harford said, a little harshly: "Does that matter now? Time

"As soon as I saw her again, I knew—I remembered—everything."

"But," Margaret interrupted, "you thought that Mary Lou was Delight—and you didn't remember then—you clung to your belief—or was it really belief? that you were married to her."

"Is that her name?" asked Lorrimer, oddly. He had been forbidding himself to think of—the other girl. Even when Peter had come downstairs to report that she was not in her room, not, it seemed, in the house, he had kept his mind enough for all that latter."

"Did you marry my son?" asked Mrs. Lorrimer.

Peter returned. He had, in his old hand, a ring and an envelope with a little penciled scrawl across its surface.

"Miss Thurston is not in her room," he reported.

Mrs. Lorrimer took the envelope. She looked at it a moment, said blankly, "She's gone."

Delight smiled, a little. Gone. Well, she'd done her best for the girl. She could do no more. She'd been willing to clear out but now she looked about the lovely room and drew a deep breath. Comfort, safety, if she played the cards right. Should she play them at all?

Mrs. Lorrimer dropped the envelope on a table. She stood up and faced her son and this stranger—this woman she disliked so intensely. She said, with a hard white austerity:

"There is, as I see it, just one question which is important now. Did you," she asked Delight, "did you marry my son? If so, have you proofs of that marriage? Are you married?" she repeated.

Delight hesitated. Looked at Lorrimer. Waited. Lorrimer spoke, and his face was gray.

"I remember now," he said heavily. "No!"

"No," repeated Lorrimer. His mother had gone perfectly white. Now with a great rush, as of relief, her color came flooding back again.

Lorrimer went on, as Delight did not speak.

Physical Examination Advised in Neuralgia

This Painful Nerve Condition Is Usually Traced to Infection in Some Part of the System, Says Dr. Copeland, With Bad Teeth Very Often the Basic Cause.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

RECENTLY I wrote about a painful condition known as "tic-douloureux," or neuralgia of the face. Today, I want to tell you still more about neuralgia.

Neuralgia is the word used to describe pain in a nerve. Such pain usually runs along the course of the affected nerve.

Neuralgia is a severe, burning, sticking, or hobbling pain. It may be constant, or it may come and go.

Facial neuralgia which I mentioned the other day, is of a severe type, involving one or more of the nerves of the face. There are, of course, other varieties of neuralgia, involving any part of the body.

The cause of neuralgia usually can be traced to an infection. Yet it is true that members of certain families are more subject to this disease than others. It affects women more than men. Children rarely suffer from neuralgia.

Neuralgia often presents itself as a first sign in certain acute diseases

This is the case sometimes, for example, in typhoid fever. Exposure to cold may bring on an attack of neuralgia in a susceptible person. Usually before the attack, there is a tingling and an uneasy sensation in the part of the body which pretty soon will be more violently affected. The pain is localized in one nerve or in a group of nerves. It is peculiar that a neuralgic pain usually affects only one side of the body. Sudden movements or muscular exertion of the part involved are likely to be painful.

During a severe spasm of pain there may be marked twitching of the muscles. Such attacks may last a few minutes, or for many hours.

Unfortunately, recurrences are not unusual. Indeed, the attacks may occur after rather definite intervals, perhaps every day at the same hour, or every second or third day.

If it is really true that neuralgia is an irritation or inflammation of a nerve and that this irritation comes from some infection, it is important that the infection be removed. The source of the infection can only be determined by a very thorough physical examination. This examination should include the teeth, sinuses, tonsils, intestines, gall bladder, kidneys and generative organs.

Often the cause can be attributed entirely to infected teeth. If the teeth are infected and removed, the cause for the irritation is eliminated and the attacks of pain do not occur again.

Oil and Bayonets
HIGH-HANDED and extra-legal though their efforts have been, Governor Murry, of Oklahoma, and Governor Sterling, of Texas, have met with a measure of success in their joint fight to bring back prosperity in their respective states by forcing up crude oil prices. They have demonstrated that temporary price-levitation is possible, but the real test will come when they tackle the job of keeping prices up after they have them where they want them.

Shutting down all oil wells by martial law is comparatively simple compared with keeping the flow from those wells at just the proper level to maintain dollar-a-barrel or better crude-oil.

Both executives are, no doubt, playing heads popular in their own states, but since they contain the threat of higher gasoline prices for the country any move to thwart them will be more or less popular beyond Oklahoma-Texas borders.

Success for the crude oil experiment is almost certain to inspire similar moves for the elevation of depressed farm prices. Farms, plantations and ranches may be the next to be shut down by martial law, although stopping the oil wells was a comparatively simpler matter.

Amanullah is Wiser
A private citizen living in Switzerland the deposed King Amanullah, of Afghanistan, is learning from bitter experience a few things which, had he known them while on the throne, would have made him a more benevolent and, perhaps more enduring monarch.

Amanullah is unique among the living potentates of the world. Whereas most of them were kicked off their thrones because they resisted progress, he is on the outside looking in because he tried to introduce modern improvements before his subjects were ready for them. His sin lay in being progressive.

There has just occurred to him an experience that is well calculated to demonstrate how it feels to be a private citizen—one of the masses. Arriving home late at night and without his key, he attempted to enter through a window only to be nabbed by a policeman and caused to explain his suspicious actions.

Great are the handicaps of an ex-king in a democratic country. The window escapee could not happen to the average citizen of a democratic country because he makes friends with the policeman on the home beat. That is the difference between a monarchy and a democracy—that which could not happen to a king in his kingdom could not happen to the citizen of a democracy in his kingdom.

Cine to Amundsen's Fate
ENLARGEMENT of a photograph taken during the flight has added another discovery to the many scored by the Graf Zeppelin on its recent Arctic flight. One of the airship's cameras caught a tiny sharp-edged blotch on Nova Zembla, which upon enlargement of the plate proved to be the wing of a seaplane. The human eye had missed it entirely.

The location of the find convinces many that the wing is from the plane of Roald Amundsen, the noted Arctic explorer, who was lost while seeking survivors of the Italia in 1928. But Ludwig Weickman, German professor, is of the opinion that Nova Zembla wing may be from one of the several American planes lost in the frozen North.

Before the study of the Graf Zeppelin's picture has been concluded they may have solved another mystery of the land of perpetual ice. At least they have demonstrated again that the camera's eye is sharper than the human eye, and that the ship of the air has a valuable ally in the aero camera. Their conjunctive value was best proved during the World War.

CHAPTER LI
MARGARET came up, a little out of breath. Peter was with her and one of the gardeners. She had bandage and bandage scissors in her hand, utterly ignorant as to the identity of the stranger or the extent of her accident as she was.

"Travers," she began, and then, quickly, stricken, "You!"

Delight said, smiling a little, not a pleasant smile: "You know me, too?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Lorrimer shortly. "Come, Travers—Peter—between all of you, we can get her to the house."

"But mother," began Lorrimer, wildly, frantically.

Mrs. Lorrimer looked at him a moment. Pity for him, terror, anger, all fought in her eyes for mastery. She said, slowly:

"She's in no condition to be kept standing here. She indicated Peter and the other man with a gesture of her hand. 'We'll all be better off at the house,' said Margaret Lorrimer."

Supported by Peter and the gardener—as Lorrimer made no move to touch her—Delight was taken to the house. Lorrimer and his mother walked beside her, a strange little procession. No word was spoken.

In the library she was put into a big chair. Peter was sent to telephone Doctor Mathews. Someone else was sent for a stimulant. Then they faced each other, alone, the three of them.

"How did this happen?" asked Mrs. Lorrimer, quietly.

"She came to me," Delight said, wearily, regarding the injured ankle which was stretched out on a footstool. "She came, yesterday morning and told me."

"Who did?" asked Lorrimer sharply.

"In Loyalty's Name."

"That girl, Miss Thurston. She told me she knew who it was, really. I'd been fool enough to tell that young press agent, Mitchell, my name. She told me that you knew, Mrs. Lorrimer, and that apparently you were not going to tell your son. She wasn't sure what you would do. She felt that—that her loyalty lay with Lorry, and, strangely enough, with me; that it was only fair both of us should know the truth. And she asked me to give her a week in which to bring you to her point of view. After that, if you were still set on Lorry's not knowing, she would leave it up to me."

She sighed. There was a silence. "I promised. But on an impulse I came here, found out where you lived and all. Easy enough. I overheard Lorry and—the other girl talking. I made up my mind to go away and, no matter what you decided, Mrs. Lorrimer, to stay away. I started for the gate, turned my ankle and fell."

She looked at them both, a little defiantly.

"We're all in it now," she said; "no use trying to escape. What are you going to do?"

Peter entered the room to say that Doctor Mathews would be right over.

"Go to Miss—" Mrs. Lorrimer started and said, firmly, "Miss Thurston's room and ask her to please come to the library."

Peter took the message without fight ensued. Even pistols were fired. A garage man changed the tire.

Physical Examination

Advised in Neuralgia

This Painful Nerve Condition Is Usually Traced to Infection in Some Part of the System, Says Dr. Copeland, With Bad Teeth Very Often the Basic Cause.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

RECENTLY I wrote about a painful condition known as "tic-douloureux," or neuralgia of the face. Today, I want to tell you still more about neuralgia.

Neuralgia is the word used to describe pain in a nerve. Such pain usually runs along the course of the affected nerve.

Neuralgia is a severe, burning, sticking, or throbbing pain. It may be constant, or it may come and go.

Facial neuralgia which I mentioned the other day, is of a severe type, involving one or more of the nerves of the face. There are, of course, other varieties of neuralgia, involving any part of the body.

The cause of neuralgia usually can be traced to an infection. Yet it is true that members of certain families are more subject to this disease than others. It affects women more than men. Children rarely suffer from neuralgia.

Neuralgia often presents itself as a first sign in certain acute diseases.

This is the case sometimes, for example, in typhoid fever. Exposure to cold may bring on an attack of neuralgia in a susceptible person. Usually before the attack, there is a tingling and an uneasy sensation in the part of the body which pretty soon will be more violently affected.

The pain is localized in one nerve or in a group of nerves. It is peculiar that a neuralgic pain usually affects only one side of the body. Sudden movements or muscular exertion of the part involved are likely to be painful.

During a severe spasm of pain, there may be marked twitching of the muscles. Such attacks may last a few minutes or for many hours.

Unfortunately, recurrences are not unusual. Indeed, the attacks may occur after rather definite intervals, perhaps every day at the same hour, or every second or third day.

If it is really true that neuralgia is an irritation or inflammation of a nerve and that this irritation comes from some infection, it is important that the infection be removed. The source of the infection can only be determined by a very thorough physical examination. This examination should include the teeth, sinuses, tonsils, intestines, gall bladder, kidneys and generative organs.

Often the cause can be attributed entirely to infected teeth. If the teeth are infected and removed, the cause for the irritation is eliminated and the attacks of pain do not occur again.

When a man becomes disappointed in love it is usually because love is disappointed in him.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTORS!

Investments today are in a strange condition. Stocks and bonds have rapidly decreased in value, real estate—both city and country—has decreased in price, wages are low, prices of commodities have had a continuous decline for almost two years. Everybody is worried.

During this two-year period stocks and bonds, in general, have the same security back of them as before; real estate—in city and country—has not vanished; we can buy more for our dollar than ever before—

Why Should We Be Worried About INVESTMENTS?

FEAR—the Demon which causes stampedes in theatres and on shipboard; which brings on unreasoning fright; starts runs on banks, makes us suspicious of everything; brings on financial depressions—has us in its grip. BUT—

“INVESTMENTS MUST BE MADE”

None of us can afford to let our money lie in safety deposit boxes or under the mattress FOR LONG.

The World Today Needs FAITH to Believe that VALUES Have NOT Vanished.

All that investors today need to do is to use good OLD FASHIONED COMMON SENSE—and FAITH—and their future will be assured and they will not be one of the crowd who will later lament the fact “if I could only have known that the panic was over and could have bought when big values could be secured at a low price.”

The MIDWEST FARM EQUIPMENT CO. of CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, has faith in the future.

The necessity for our products compels us to expand our business. Competition among the Farmers of the World in the next generation will COMPEL THEM TO BE EFFICIENT or lose out in their battle for existence.

FOOD—

Must be and will be produced. Cultivation is necessary in the production of food. Cultivating tools must be bought and they will wear out.

Authorities agree that we have the best tillage tools on the market.

THE FUTURE OF OUR COMPANY AS IT NOW STANDS SEEMS ASSURED. The future of your investments is NOT ASSURED unless your investments are safe.

We believe that your capital combined with our capital, invested in the stock of the MIDWEST FARM EQUIPMENT CO., will be safe and the aggregate of our resources will make it possible to take care of our possible market which will bring bigger scale production, economy in manufacturing, and greater profits for all concerned.

CIRCLEVILLE CLAIMS IT WANTS INDUSTRIES, AND MUST HAVE THEM if its future is to be assured.

The quotation says, “FAITH WITHOUT WORKS IS DEAD.” Our capital has been used to develop a manufacturing business and we know of no reason why our future is not assured. We are passed the experimental stage during which time we have developed tools which Agricultural experts and leading farmers of five states say are worthy of the name

BETTER TILLAGE TOOLS

WE have had our manufacturing methods checked by engineers to ascertain whether we are using efficient and economical systems. We have had the best cost accountants available check our cost system and cost sheets to prove that our cost figures are correct.

We have developed a sales organization which reaches into six states, and produces results.

Our market demand is much greater than our present manufacturing capacity can take care of so we believe that you will be justified in making an investment with us. Help us to increase our manufacturing facilities and develop market possibilities and profit with us through this increased business.

YOUR $10.00, $50.00, $100 or $500 invested “NOW” can assist in bringing thousands of dollars into Circleville from the four corners of the earth through the sale of our products.

WE HAVE FURNISHED THE OPPORTUNITY—YOU NEED A PLACE FOR INVESTMENT.

CIRCLEVILLE'S INDUSTRIES MUST GROW! — LET'S GO!!

Initial Gridiron Practice Is Next Saturday

Coach Summons Squad For Work

With the opening of Circleville high school only two weeks away, attention of gridiron enthusiasts is naturally turning to conversation of what prospects the 1931-32 football season will hold for Coach P. S. Herberholz' Tigers. To add to this talk is the announcement by Coach Herberholz today that the first practice session of the season will be next Saturday, Sept. 6. At this time all prospective members of the team are expected to report at the high school field. Suits will probably be issued at the high school locker Friday afternoon, Sept. 4, and also the first round-table discussion between Coach Herberholz and the boys is expected to take place at this time. However a later announcement will be made regarding this fact.

Coach Herberholz notified all prospective members of the team by personal letter to begin getting in condition for practice for the first game with Walnut-twp, Sept. 18. Due to the fact that school is opening one week later this year it was necessary to begin practice a week ahead of time. A ruling of the Ohio High School Athletic Association which implies to this situation, states that practice may begin on or after Sept. 1 of each year.

MANY VETERANS
One of the biggest assets to the team this year is the fact that twelve of last year's letter men are expected back on the field ready for action.

Last year's back-field combination which includes Bob Hundley, George Iles, Fred Smith and Dean White is expected to be back on the job. Eight of last season's veteran linemen are expected to report. These will include Med Good, Bob Griffith, Jack Chaffin, Carl Purcell, Albert Hoffman, Frank Dunlap, Bill Hegele and Bill Robinson.

Gaines Hill, who was one of the most prospective backfield-men seen on the C. H. S. campus for quite a while is not expected to report back to school.

Several members of last year's second squad who are expected to show things include Paul Wallace, Paul Rooney, John Laughlin, Bob Hickey, Merle Davis, Pete Stout and several others. These lads looked promising last year when given a chance in several tilts.

New equipment purchased for this season includes new pants and hip pads. Last year new jerseys, helmets and other equipment was purchased.

Faced with new competition in the Central Buckeye League, including Delaware and Marysville, the Tigers will need to have a scrapping team to place on the field. Due to the fact that practice will be cut short for the first two games it will mean that every reporting member of the team will have to work hard from the start, to accomplish victories.

SCHEDULE IS OUT
An impressive schedule has been handed to Coach Herberholz by E. I. Gephart, faculty manager with a night game with Lancaster, there on Sept. 25 as the high spot of the year. The Red and Black gridmen will also meet five Central Buckeye League opponents.

The complete schedule for the Tigers squad is as follows:
Sept. 18—Walnut-twp. here,
Sept. 25—Lancaster, there.
Oct. 2—Grandview, here.
Oct. 9—Bexley, there.
Oct. 16—Open Date.
Oct. 23—Marysville, here.
Oct. 30—Westerville, there.
Nov. 6—Delaware, there.
Nov. 13—Hillsboro, here.

The complete Central Buckeye League schedule of games other than Circleville's follows:

Westerville at Bexley.
Oct. 23—Bexley at Grandview.

Although the entry list in this race is small, it promises to be one of the hottest of the entire card; a 2:20 trot sponsored by the Inter Club Council of Columbus with a purse of $1,000 for 2:22 trotters, will be the closing event.

G. W. Rittenour of Piketon is the Board Member in charge of the speed program. Win Kinnan of the North Randall Track at Cleveland will be the presiding judge. Steve Phillips of Xenia, the starting judge, and Chester Stands of Columbus, probably the best known race horse man in central Ohio will be the associate starting judge. The honorary steward, E. W. Fisher, was president of the old mile-track at Columbus.

WRITING NEW "LINCOLN"
LIME ROCK, Conn.—Bernhardt Wall is writing another life of Abraham Lincoln. He is the author of six books concerning the Civil War president, all popular in their day. His collection of Lincoln material has assembled so rapidly that he is now doing what he describes as a very complete life of the great man. Wall, a noted etcher, is illustrating the book with etchings of buildings connected with Lincoln's career.

REC PLAYOFF BEGINS AT UTILITIES TONIGHT

Recreation ball 'a la world series' will be staged at Utilities field this evening with the first game of the playoff between the Circleville Oils and the Independent Grocers beginning at 6 p. m. Managers of the four recreation ball teams met at The Herald office Sunday afternoon and decided that all games be played at 6 p. m. with infield practice between turns at bat taboo in order to speed up play to end the contests before darkness had impaired the chances of both teams.

The series will be played on consecutive evenings. The winner of the first three games will be declared the champion. If after four games have been played each team has won twice the final game will be played on next Sunday afternoon.

Four umpires were selected by the managers; Bill Donohue, behind the plate; Frank Lynch at first base; Russell Miller at second base, and Bill Pickers at third base. The managers Sunday voted that no argument by players will be tolerated. The umpire on whom the argument is made has the power to immediately eject the arguing ball player or players from the field of play for the remainder of the game. The captains of each team have the right to discuss disputes with no other player taking part.

For the right to bat first, a coin will be flipped before the first game. The winner of the toss will get his choice of the field or the bat with the choice alternating the next night, etc.

Each team must use the same players it has employed all through the season. If one team shows up with one man missing, he may be replaced on an agreement of the two managers.

The success of this series depends largely on the crowd. Some persons who term themselves fans go to the ball games just to 'razz' someone, if these persons can realize that none of the ball players receive anything for their efforts but play merely for the love of the game, much wrangling and dissatisfaction can be eliminated. This, too, refers to 'umpire baiters.'

GRAPPLING CARD GOOD

Gypsy Joe and Wayne Dunkle Both Suffer Falls, Foes Heavier.

Only a handful of grappling fans saw an interesting card at Evert's arena Saturday evening when Gypsy Joe and Wayne Dunkle both suffered falls, foes heavier.

The first grab and grunt session saw Copeland and Bill Miller of Columbus wrestle to a draw in 30 minutes of fast work. Copeland succeeded in putting the most holds on Miller applying an arm-secure, numerous times but Miller was able to break them all. He and Copeland in a bad way at times but a draw handed out by Referee Frank Davis was the popular decision.

In the second bout Gypsy Joe Snyder of Columbus, popular wrestler, lost a rough match to Ray Phillips who held a 15 pound weight advantage. Time after time Joe would apply a hold on Phillips but because of the difference in weight would lose it. Phillips finally took Joe down with a body slam and pinned him. The match was to be for one hour, Phillips pinning Snyder in 48 minutes.

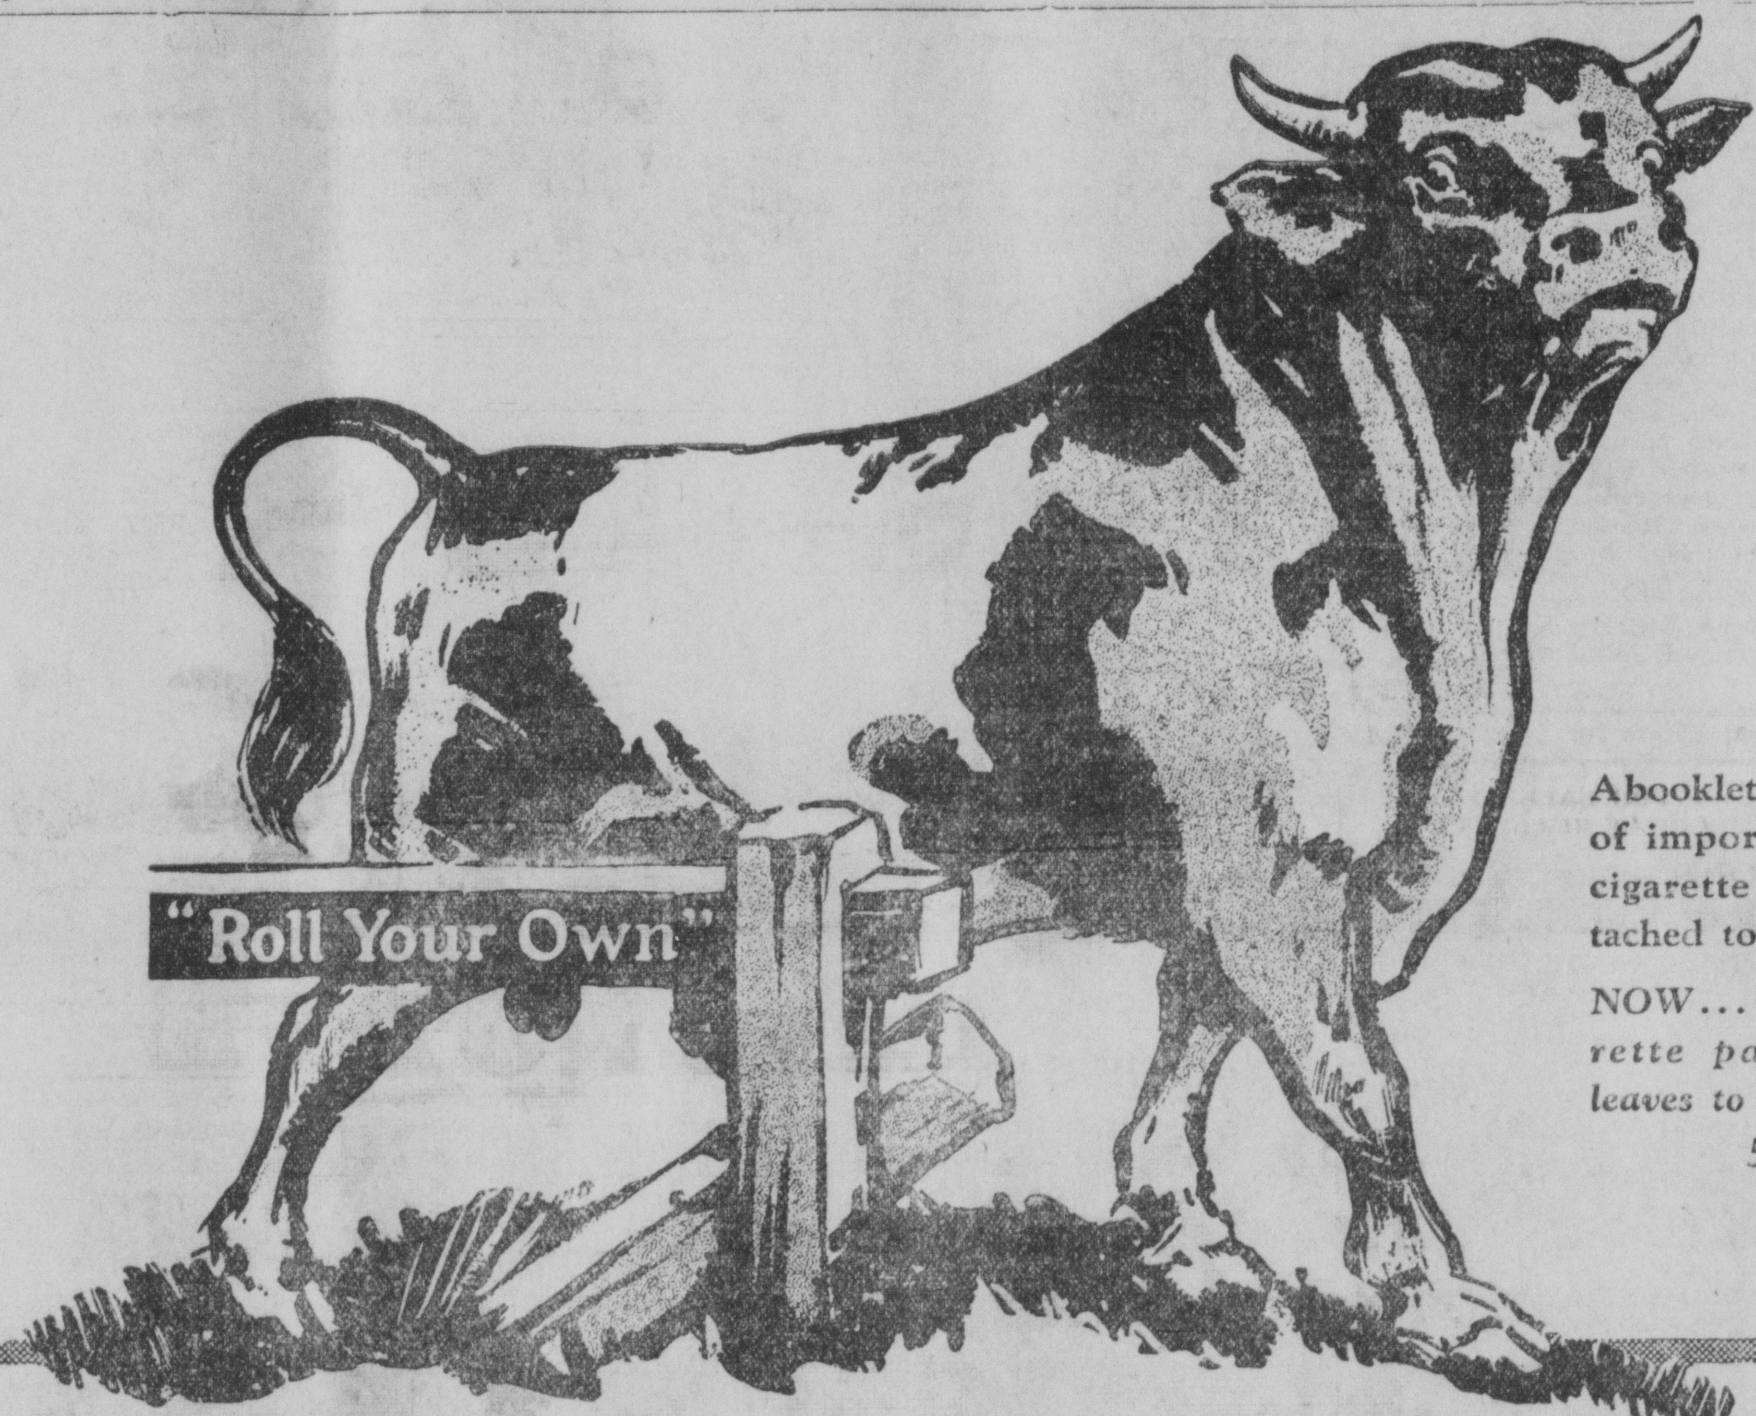

The final which was to have seen Wayne Dunkle of London and Merle Dolby of Indianapolis in a feature two fall bout, saw Tiger Bud Mitchell of Youngstown substituted for Dolby at the last minute.

Dunkle showed much more speed and agility than did Mitchell but again the weight advantage caused the victory to go to the other side. Dunkle was in and about Mitchell all during the match but when the big fellow got hold of Wayne it was too bad. Mitchell took the first fall in 17 minutes when he grabbed Dunkle while on the mat and pinned his shoulders before the wiry London athlete could object. He took the second fall in about the same manner in the same length of time, 17 minutes. Another wrestling card will be staged on Wednesday, Sept. 9.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

BUSY TIMES AHEAD

Boy Scouts of Central Ohio have many activities which will occupy their time during the next few months. They will usher at the State Fair, and during that week many of them will be engaged in the Regional Campfire as a part of the Junior Fair attraction.

At the Campfire, Scouts from Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia will demonstrate their ability as campers. Following the State Fair will come the Gateway Jubilee for Central Ohio, in which every Scout in the Council will take part. Scouts will serve as orderlies along the line of march, will participate in the floats, and will serve in hundreds of other capacities, where their Good Turns will be felt by the visitors.

Thirteen hundred Scouts will be used each Saturday at the Football games, and the local Troops are all making big plans for the event this year. However, the neophytes will be excluded from the project of Football ushering as only those of Second Class or higher rank will be used.

Following Football ushering Troops will engage in another Achievement Round-up which will advance hundreds of Scouts in rank and bring into the movement many new members.

While the boys are busy, their leaders will also have many Scout activities to occupy their attention. Training Courses in Franklin, Madison, Delaware, Pickaway, and Union Counties will begin during the latter part of September for interested men 18 years of age or over. Practically all of the present Scoutmasters are laying plans to participate in the course, with their hiking, camping, first aid, and series of inspirational Scouting talks.

Sept. is Court of Honor Month and in every County if the Council record breaking Courts of Honor will be held. Parents and the general public are invited to each of these affairs where the Scouts will be given honors which they have earned since June. Several new Eagle Scouts are to receive their badges at the Courts.

SUCCESSFUL SUMMER

1931 marks the most successful summer the Council has ever known. Over 700 different Scouts have camped under Council supervision, this being 500 more than the most successful season of the past.

Hundreds of Scouts have participated at Scouts Swimming meets and on Divisional Hikes.

Many troops have run their own Camps, and more Troops than ever before have continued to hold meetings during the summer.

All Scouts and Scouters are planning still further achievement during the next few months, as more and more Troops are again continuing to hold their weekly gatherings.

HARD LUCK PURSUED

ATLANTA, Ga.—Painfully injured while cranking an airplane propeller at the local airport, J. L. McFarland, chief mechanic for American Airways, was placed in an automobile that struck another machine and turned over three times while enroute to the hospital. A third automobile took McFarland and occupants of the two crash cars to a hospital. None was seriously hurt.

Mushrooms come up over night, and it is the opinion of a motorist looking for a place to park that fire hydrants do, too.

It was the club's tribute to the old fighting ship.

AVIATORS ESCAPE, WILL RACE AGAIN

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 31.—Unstopped by their dramatic escape from death by jumping with their parachutes, two marine flyers, Lieut. L. H. "Sandy" Sanderson and Lieut. W. O. Brice, were to take part in the second day's activities of the national air races.

The two aviators crashed when flying in a formation of nine planes at an altitude of 1,500 feet, and landed without injury. They went to the speaker's stand where they met Henry Wacker, Akron, original member of the "caterpillar club," composed of pilots who saved their lives by bailing out with a chute. Wacker jumped in Chicago in 1919 when a biplane caught fire and fell, killing 13.

GRAF ZEPELIN IS OVER OCEAN

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—The Graf Zeppelin, making her second flight from Friedrichshafen to Pernambuco, Brazil, across the Atlantic, flew over the Canary Islands at 12 20 a. m. today, in the direction of the Cape Verde islands, according to radio messages received in Berlin.

The dirigible was sighted several hours earlier as it headed out to sea from the African mainland coast of Rio De Oro.

Under the command of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Graf left its hangar at Friedrichshafen last night at 9:30. The veteran skipper, before his departure, said that he expected to reach Pernambuco in 73 hours. After spending a day there, he said he would start homeward again.

GANGSTERS POUR LEAD INTO STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Extortionists were blamed today for the wounding of an 18-year-old girl, as two gangsters poured bullets into a Brooklyn street crowded with children.

The gangsters missed their intended victim but Jennie Ballantino, 18, was struck on the arm as she stood talking to friends on a street corner.

Police said the six or eight shots were intended for Joseph Santora, 45, a boss stevedore and longshoreman and the father of 12 children. He had reported to police Saturday that two men had attempted to extort money from him.

FAMILY QUARREL ENDS IN DEATHS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—A mother and daughter were dead here today and the daughter's father and ex-husband, critically wounded as the result of a gun battle which ended a family stroll in the north beach quarter of the city.

"I killed Mrs. Eichler first. I strangled her with a rope around the neck."

"Then I walked through Annabels and killed the two young-or kids, the brother and sister. I hit the little boy on the head with hammer before putting the rope around his throat.

"They never made any noise or put up any fight."

"I killed the older girl and Mrs.

Lempke last by strangling both."

"No, I didn't have any trouble.

They took it quietly."

Took it quietly, a man-monster

stalking through the room where a

14 year old girl was crouched against the shadows—stalking into the next room to crush the breath and life out of kid sister and brother.

Took it quietly, Mrs. Lempke,

the good-natured frantic widow

from Massachusetts, quivering in
